BLOOD ON THE STREETS

JERUSALEM IN 1988 is a city of oppression, hatred and blood. Christian churches in the Holy City are daubed and have been fire-bombed by extreme Zionists masquerading as 'religious' zealots. Shrines have been desecrated and Muslims have been attacked by occupying Israeli troops with tear gas, baton charges and live bullets fired into crowds of worshippers.

TV news reports show a little of the horror - but they hide most of it. Reporters ignore the common Israeli army practice of catching young boys, tying them to the fronts of their jeeps and using them as living battering rams to smash into crowds of Palestinians. And we are never told why so many of the young demonstrators shown on TV are holding up their bandaged hands. It is because the Israeli soldiers respond to any stone throwing, by Palestinians objecting to the foreign military occupation of their country, by bursting into every house in the area the following night. Whenever they find a boy or young man, one of the soldiers threatens his family with a machine gun while two others hold their young victim on a table or the floor. Then a fourth produces a hammer and smashes it repeatedly onto his hands, until every bone is broken.

That is the truth about the Zionist occupation of Palestine. The Zionist thugs involved haven't changed their tactics since the late 1940's, when their terror gangs murdered hundreds of British troops and policeman in numerous barbaric atrocities.

Incredibly, some Britons seem prepared to give aid and support to such a brutal terrorist State by going on holiday there. And even more incredibly, the Association of British Travel Agents (ABTA) is not only encouraging them, but is going to hold its 1988 Annual Conference in occupied Jerusalem.

This is why the National Front is supporting the drive by the Campaign for Palestinian Rights to persuade individual tourists not to go to Israel, and to get ABTA to hold their convention in another country.

MULTI-RACISTS ON THE RUN

PANIC is perhaps the best word that describes the reaction of the self-interested multi-racists and the 'community relations' gestapo to the continuing re-emergence of the National Front as a viable force in British politics.

A certain rumbling was detected when Trevor Philips of the London based West Indian paper 'The Voice' felt moved to comment on the growing links between the cadres of the NF and our respected co-thinkers from a number of Black Separatist organizations.

In an article entitled 'NF Nonsense', Philips attacked Nation of Islam boss Louis Farrakhan for preaching a doctrine of racial separation and for calling for a separate Black nation in the U.S.A. with its own territory. Philips asserted that the late Marcus Garvey had unwittingly allowed himself to be used as a front for White racials, and that in the case of N.O.I. and the Pan African International Movement (P.A.I.N.) it was a case of history repeating itself.

He stressed how important it was that Black people should be warned before the said 'nonsense' "gains respectability". His final conclusion was that "the NF is not interested in Black liberation, what it wants is White domination". Of course, quite how a people living strictly amongst their own kind and within a sovereign territory could be dominated by Whites, is never fully articulated. Such a notion is both absurd and illogical. However, it is precisely this sort of nonsense that is carefully designed to stir up the maximum amount of fear, hatred and violence between the various racial groups.

Following the rumblings of 'the Voice' a definite tremor was felt as the hatemongers of the anti-NF hate sheet 'Searchlight' went on the offensive in an article entitled 'Political Soldiers Ride Out'. The sordid Stalinist/Zionist cabal who churn out this tawdry little magazine are evidently frustrated by their failure to promote the political blind alley constructed around degenerate expeles from our movement.

Searchlight admitted "We are now facing a sophisticated, politically educated and reasonably well-led organization". It went on to explain, albeit in a hostile manner, our good relations with various Separatist organizations, our unconditional support for the Palestinian revolution and the professionalism of our work on behalf of the Campaign for Palestinian Rights. Photographs reproduced from NF News featuring an NF official fraternising with Black militants were described as "scenes of shame".

In an appendage to this article entitled 'No Buthelezi in Britain', Wayne Farrah, a Black member of N.A.L.G.O. compares our Separatist allies with the fiercely independent Zulus of southern Africa, and designates both as 'collaborators'. He follows with a subtle threat to our Black comrades: "anyone foolish enough to collaborate with the likes of the NF will be exposed to the total ridicule of the Black community".

Elsewhere in this journal of hate, there was a far less subtle brand of scribbling to be found in the shape of the Ray Hill column, 'Hill Street News'.

Following his infantile comments about 'two-tone four legged papersellers' in Barking (a reference to a Black and a White nationalist jointly campaigning for the Third Way), Hill described a Black comrade, Osiris Akkebala, as an 'extremist', whose organization (P.A.I.N.) consisted of "three men and an alligator". Such a nasty little racist slur is well worthy of this former Nazi stalwart!

Fully fledged panic was finally reached on the pages of the unfashionable Lancashire paper, the Burnley Express. In an attack entitled 'Don't give NF advert' local Labour councillor Eddie

An NF leader observes an NOI anti-drug operation in Washington DC recently.

Fisk, deputy chairman of Bly District Police Liaison Committee, admonished Mr. Saeed Chaudray of the Community Relations Council for raising the question of the growing influence and increasing political activities of the NF during a debate on the subject in Burnley Town Hall.

Fisk told Chaudray, "the worst thing about this is that we have advertized it publicly with the press here. I think speaking to the police is much better than speaking here tonight. Radio Lancashire will be on the phone to you tomorrow".

The response of Fisk to the NF challenge obviously verges on the paranoid. It is the culmination of a series of attacks on our movement by various local newspapers in East Lancashire, following the explosion of support for the NF in both Blackburn and Accrington.

Headlines such as 'Race violence is on the up', 'New fear of race hatred' and 'Fury over race hate campaign', have tried yet again to identify the NF with negative racism and violence.

The local journalists in question have discussed at length with an NF leader about the true nature of our ideology.

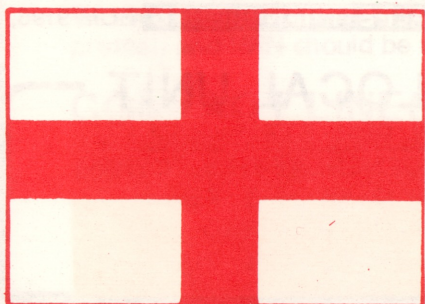

With the honourable exception of Susan Denswood of the Accrington Observer, they, or possibly their editors, have deliberately refused to print the facts about the Third Way between Capitalism and Communism and the universal nature of national revolution.

The fact is that these Establishment tools want an NF which is racist and reactionary simply because they know that such an organization has no future. Even more worrying for them is the fact that increasing numbers of youth are being attracted to the NF precisely because of its revolutionary nationalist convictions.

Our developing relationship with various Separatists will give us increasing credibility with large sections of our own folk who have been frightened off in the past by the mindfixers of the multi-racist lobby.

It will also help in the creation of parallel organizations of non White peoples who wish to build a healthy future for themselves in lands far beyond our island home.

The opponents of the National Front are now on the defensive; we await their future reactions in a confident but ever vigilant frame of mind!

HOME AFFAIRS, ANALYSIS & COMMENT

TORIES RECOMMEND AMERICAN STYLE FORCED BUSING

The American lesson unheeded:

Right: Soldiers of the 101st Airborne Division force White schoolgirls at bayonet point into their newly racially mixed school in Little Rock, Arkansas on September 24th, 1957.

Far Right: The same soldiers supervising Black students who had been bused into the school.

If influential Tories get their way, these scenes will become familiar in many British towns.

TOP TORIES are Hell bent on reviving the 'busing' policies of the 1950's and '60's. A pamphlet published by the Tory Bow Group wants immigrants and especially Muslims to be forced by law to integrate in an attempt to destroy their cultures.

This they will do by forcing, nazi style, children from Black and Asian backgrounds into schools not of their choice, or not even in their own areas, to disperse them among White pupils.

NFN fully agrees with the Muslims that whilst they are here they must be allowed to set up their own schools, unlike the Tory race-hating bigots who would rather destroy not only their cultures, but ours as well.

DEFENCE CUTS BY STEALTH

THE ROYAL NAVY'S fleet of surface escorts is in danger of shrinking to the point where it can no longer meet even its peacetime commitments. The Senior Service is the latest victim of the government's policy of "defence cuts by stealth".

The Tories promised during the election to maintain a surface escort fleet of about 50 ships. But in order to pay for the ludicrously expensive U.S. built Trident nuclear missiles which Thatcher is determined to buy, massive cut-backs in our conventional forces are now necessary.

This is why the latest all-party committee report has found that the government is failing to order the new ships needed to replace Britain's ageing surface fleet. They also found that the existing vessels are seriously overstretched, placing a big strain on the crews of the warships which have to spend 60 per cent of their time away from home ports. A recent survey has shown that separation from families is a major factor with ratings seeking premature release.

The report also pointed out that the lack of regular orders or any clear sense of direction makes life difficult for shipbuilders. This in turn causes unemployment and lack of investment in the economically hard-hit North of England, Scotland and Ulster.

A national revolutionary Britain would seek to be more self-sufficient in food and other essential products, thereby reducing our dependence on sea-borne imports. But even then it is obvious that our maritime nations must have adequate naval defences. We certainly won't have while this government is in power.

ANNOYED

Sinn Fein president Gerry Adams was quoted to have been "considerably annoyed" at the murder of three members of the Hanna family in a recent IRA outrage. Very humanitarian Gerry! Or could it be that he was annoyed at his Provo comrades wasting valuable bomb making components and explosive?

RACE HATE EMERGES

FROM A recent copy of the anti-NF hate sheet Searchlight it would look like they have gone into blind race hatred of the type Mr. Himmler would have been proud of. What are the Zionist neo-Nazis at Searchlight up to? Have they blown some sort of mental gasket?

They state that comrade Osiris Akkeba is the 'self-styled' Chief Elder of the Pan African International Movement and that the National Front has contacts with a "tiny number of tame Black nationalists which the Front has been able to woo to its perverse brand of racial separatism".

What do they really mean by this racist insult: "tiny number of tame Black nationalists"? So 'tiny' are they in numbers that people like comrade Louis Farrakhan was, in a recent survey, the third most popular Black in America.

So 'tame' is Mr. Farrakhan that the government has banned him from visiting this country.

But when it does come to tame Blacks there is no need to look any further than to the likes of Boateng and Dianne Abbott. Before the last General Election she was asked by the Board of Deputies of Zionist Jews about Louis Farrakhan. She replied in the Jewish Chronicle that if they said he was anti-Semitic that although she had not read a single word he had said or written, the ban of entry to this country was right!

That's tameness for you!

ENERGY FOR LIFE

GEOTHERMAL ENERGY is the use of heat produced by rocks under the Earth's crust. It is cheap and everlasting. But in 1985 the government stopped all support for projects using geothermal power.

However, Southampton council have now been the first in Britain to tap heat from a geothermal aquifer for district heating. The scheme, costing £3.8 million is controlled by a heat station near the wellhead. At this station the heat is transferred to the hot water distribution system.

According to New Scientist "the whole scheme will eventually have a potential capacity of twenty four thousand kilowatts - large enough to supply the heating needs of most of the city centre".

For once we would like to congratulate the bold forward thinking of a local council in its efforts to find a cheap, safe and clean alternative source of power.

There was once a time when such ideas as 'hot rocks', wind power, tidal and solar power were on the fringes of technology and dismissed as 'crankish' by our masters.

But with the leukaemia rate near nuclear power plants being as high as 8 times the national average and with the 'small and insignificant' accidents and leaks occurring almost daily, many people are at last looking towards alternative energy forms. So these safe and renewable sources of energy are now clearly the way forward to the 21st century.

FROM THE HORSE'S MOUTH

IN a private letter recently passed on to NF News, Margaret Thatcher's Political Office stooge, Nigel Hawkins, indirectly admitted that the system of Parliamentary Representation is a fraud.

In referring to holding referendums on certain subjects Hawkins let slip that "there is no guarantee that the result of a referendum would be endorsed by a majority of M.P.'s".

So there we have it, straight from the horse's mouth. Representation is a falsification of democracy! Only direct peoples' rule as advocated by the NF can bring freedom to the British peoples.

IDENTITY CARDS ON THE WAY?

THE MASS of self-seeking crooks who make up parliament, a body for the great amusement of the masses and for the greater amusement of International Capitalism, Communism and Zionism, have condemned the use of identity cards in South Africa, where they are used to control the Black population under Botha's petty apartheid.

Whilst we agree with this condemnation in principle, the disparity between what they say and what they do is nothing less than double-talk.

Many powerful forces within parliament, and more importantly outside it, favour the use of identity cards for our own population in the British Isles. As always, they claim that the use of these identity cards would help to fight crime. But just how this would be done they never seem to tell us.

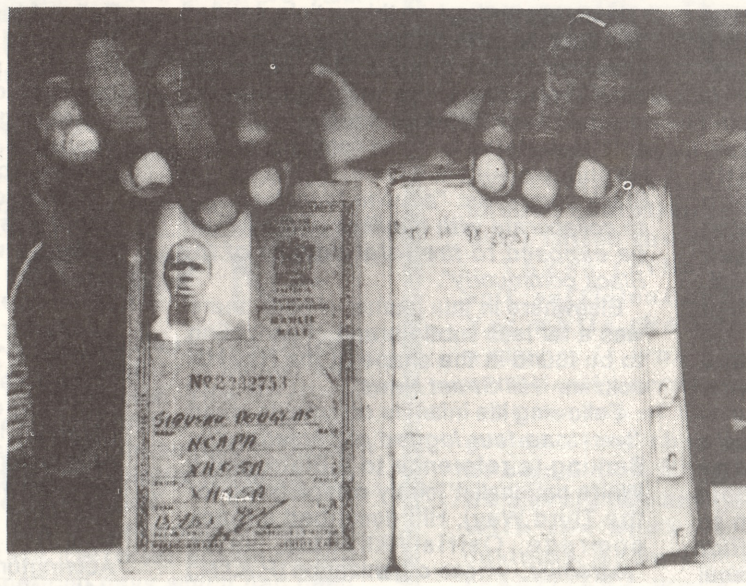

The move has been supported by such people as the Townswomen's Guild and also top Tories such as Ivan Lawrence QC MP, the chairman of the Tory Legal Backbench committee.

But as the Daily Telegraph admitted on 22nd July, the identity card system will be "part of a network of rules that enable the authorities to keep track of the population".

So there we have it: the card will be used against people whom the State feels are disobedient and who do not blindly follow the dictatorship of our self-made 'leaders'.

Below: The hated Pass-Book, symbol of apartheid. Could something similar be introduced in Britain in the near future?

MEIBION GLYNDWR
- ER BUDD CYMRU

PLAID CYMRU, the Welsh 'Nationalist' party has at last shown clearly that it has been taken over by a repulsive mixture of Westminster toadies and neo-Marxist internationalists.

But a group of genuine Welsh nationalists have reacted to Plaid's total failure to stand up against the mass purchase of over 20,000 second homes by wealthy English buyers.

The purchase of second homes means that young Welsh people cannot afford to live in their own homeland and is hastening the closure of schools and shops hit by the resulting fall in population.

This problem is now threatening the very existence of the Welsh culture and language - one of the oldest and most beautiful in Europe.

MORTAL THREAT

Faced with this mortal threat to their nation, true nationalists in Wales have set up a shadowy organization known as Meibion Glyndwr - the Sons of Glyndwr - after the national hero and leader of the great Welsh revolt against the early English Empire.

In a desperate and dramatic campaign to make up for the total failure of their elected 'representatives', they have firebombed a total of over 130 holiday homes and estate agents who advertize heavily in the yuppie press.

The campaign has now lasted nine years and seems to be being stepped up, but the police have found little to go on and have complained about the lack of help from the Welsh people.

OUT OF TOUCH

This itself shows how much support Meibion Glyndwr have and shows how out of touch Plaid Cymru are in their reaction to the campaign.

For the Welsh 'Nationalist' party, with its three smug overpaid Members of the Westminster parliament, has "unreservedly" condemned the attacks.

Plaid's President, Dafydd Ellis

Thomas has gone on absurdly to accuse the militants of being British State agents and has tried to smear them by alleging "connections with the extreme right and with extreme right wing nationalists".

He warned that people might be injured or killed in a campaign which has clearly striven to avoid such a thing. Then he went on to make a statement which more than anything else marks him out as a materialistic Establishment hack and safety valve.

"Destruction of property is the ultimate negative act", claimed this money-grubbing sell-out. The Welsh nation is bleeding to death and he regards the destruction of bricks and mortar as the ultimate evil!

CAP IN HAND

His solution is to go cap in hand to Westminster for more grants in order to bail out communities which are being murdered by the economics of the Capitalist system he supports. He also suggested that English immigrants should be encouraged to learn "something" of the Welsh language.

Cymru's leading nationalist poet, retired rector R.S. Thomas, was denounced by the Plaid stooges for expressing support for the Cymru militants and stating his view that even the death of an individual as a result would be "nothing compared to the death of Wales".

The Welsh press also leapt to attack the outspoken rector and sought to isolate Meibion Glyndwr by claiming that their attack on estate agents in Chester was, in the words of the Western Mail, "universally condemned by all political parties".

This is not true. We know nothing of Meibion Glyndwr's ideological leanings, policies or other aims, if they have them. But on this issue, National Front News wholeheartedly sympathizes with the people of Cymru who feel that they must take direct action to protect their communities and heritage.

It's a tragedy that they have to destroy fine old buildings in order to do so, but the culture and identity of a living nation is more important than architecture.

PAINFUL CHOICE

That such a painful choice is necessary is an indictment of Plaid Cymru, not of those who risk long prison sentences for the sake of their nation. It is the inevitable betrayal by parliamentary 'representatives' who regard their fat salaries and 'respectability' as the most important thing.

But there is another way. There is a choice between betrayal and defeat or fire, blood and death. Instead of wasting their time and money seeking to become a slightly bigger tiny minority in a foreign Capitalist talking shop, Welsh nationalists could organize local positive action to defend and improve their communities. They could work to set up alternative popular community councils dedicated to bypassing the apparatus of Westminster rule, bringing a steady shift to true best use of our national resources.

SANITY IN FINANCE

The right to create the credit needed by the economy must belong to the people's government. The banks, which have usurped this right, must be stripped of their unjust gains and power. The National Debt is based on usury and must be repudiated.

RESPECT FOR NATURE

We hold the environment in trust for future generations. Pollution of the land, sea and air, and of the gene pool through radiation, is a betrayal of that trust.

POPULAR RULE

Parliamentary representation is a fraud. Party rule is a cloak for the

HUMAN PIGS

IN ONE of the most sickening horror stories to come to national prominence for a long time, a top British surgeon has revealed his plans to use the organs of pigs and other animals for human transplants.

Michael Bewick, a kidney transplant surgeon at Kings College Hospital in London, and his team of fellow Frankensteins hope that they will be able to put their plans into action within two or three years.

But there is already a history of human experiments dating back twenty years where from time to time surgeons have carried out their sick fantasies on unsuspecting patients, usually young children.

These include a 13 year old boy who had his blood circulation connected to that of a baboon in 1975, a patient who was given a pigs heart in 1968, another whose heart was replaced with that of a baboon in 1977 and more recently, in 1984, when little Baby Fae was given a baboons heart. Sheeps hearts have also been used in other unsuccessful experiments on people.

Reacting to the news the British Medical Association said that it had no objections to the plans in order to counter the lack of human organs available. But the only sane reaction so far has come from Animal Welfare groups who have suggested that a change in the law on donations of human organs would solve the problem. But unfortunately, the animal rights groups seem to have got their priorities the wrong way round and are more concerned about the vivisection experiments involved than the moral implications to mankind.

VERTICAL PIGS

Bewick summed up concisely the lack of spiritual awareness and the mentality of the modern age: "Humans are just vertical pigs".

To such as Bewick, people are nothing more or less than animals which by implication means that we have no higher purpose or destiny other than living for ourselves. Absolute Truth and truths such as Social Justice hold no meaning to this mentality: there is no divide between Good and Evil; between rights or oppression; co-operation or exploitation.

And sadly such people have the upper-hand in a world that is morally and spiritually bankrupt. Which is precisely why the National Front and comrades who advocate the Global Third Position exist and raise Combat to the world and its errors.

EASY WAY OUT

THE COAL INDUSTRY is next on the list for privatisation after the next election. But many are not happy with this and fear that Open Cast mining "poses a grave threat to the environment".

Mr. Tony Crompton, planning director for the Central West Region of the Open Cast Executive has expressed grave doubts about the proposals.

He says that "independent private contractors working Open Cast sites will be more concerned with profit than land reclamation" and that in his view "the privatisation of Open Cast mining will undoubtedly have an adverse effect on the environment".

NFN feels sure that the government knows the effect privatisation will have on the environment, but also knows that privatisation would distance the State from the eyesores, exploitation and waste which are sure to result.

self-government.

They could seek to involve national revolutionaries in England in a campaign of education, aiming to show potential holiday home buyers that their pleasure means genocide in Wales. And they must work openly to convince their own property owners, shopkeepers and the like, that collaboration with the foreign invasion will destroy their nation and is not worthwhile.

UNSTOPPABLE FORCE

Such an effort could involve the whole population in an unstoppable force. This is a far better option than drastic action by secretive individuals which can only lead to deadly repression or a drift towards purely negative terrorism and criminality.

So while we understand the actions of Meibion Glyndwr and salute their courage, NF News urges these comrades from the Land of Comrades to turn off the path to terrorism and defeat, and strive to build a popular organization in which the mass of Welsh people can be directly involved.

Whatever the views of Meibion Glyndwr to this idea, the National Front of Wales intends to do just this anyway. But we would like the cream of Welsh youth to join in this effort, not to go down a blind alley.

With the collapse of Plaid Cymru as a credible force for nationalism in Wales, Ffrynt Cenedlaethol Cymru steps forward as the only national revolutionary movement in the oldest nation of the British family of nations.

Comrades come to us!

NATIONAL FREEDOM

Britain is a family of Nations - England, Wales, Scotland, Kernow, Mannin, Eire and Ulster - linked by blood and history. The peoples of all nations have an inalienable right to self-determination and to preserve their native cultures and traditions. We look forward to the day when Eire voluntarily rejoins the future federated British family of nations.

RACIAL SEPARATION

Race is the main determining factor in nationality. Racially mixed societies cannot form one nation and are therefore unstable.

No one race is 'superior' to others, but they are all different. Racial integration threatens all races. Humane repatriation is better for us all than endless repression and racial violence.

The nation is a great family. Every member of our national family has the absolute right to care at the nation's expense when young, sick or old. There must be equal opportunity for all, but unearned privilege for none.

WORLD AFFAIRS, ANALYSIS & COMMENT

ZERO HOPE FOR NICARAGUA

GOOD NEWS in the struggle for the Global Third Position came in the last days of July, when it was announced in San Jose, Costa Rica, that Eden Pastora - the legendary Commander Zero - was returning to the political battlefield in Nicaragua.

It will be remembered that Comrade Pastora had been instrumental in the Sandino movement in overthrowing the reactionary capitalist junta of Anastasio Somoza which had been installed by the Americans, before the last war, to protect their imperial interests. In the course of a long and bloody struggle against Somoza, Pastora built up an enormous base of support amongst the Nicaraguan peasantry, not only by his leading the heroic assault on the National Palace which led to Somoza's downfall, but also by virtue of the fact that he proved willing to suffer alongside his people, whilst others enjoyed the patronage of powerful forces.

This growing support was not at all to the liking of the CIA who directed and financed the so-called Contras - Somoza's National Guard by another name - in order to regain control of the country.

Neither was it to the liking of the Sandanista government which moved rapidly to remove all non-Marxist elements from the movement once power had been attained.

The consequence was not a People's National Revolution, but a repressive Marxist coup d'etat.

HIT MAN

In 1986 an assassination attempt was made on Pastora in La Penca on the Nicaraguan/Costa Rican border by a top international hit man. Although several journalists died in the bombing outrage, Pastora miraculously survived suffering from little more than shock. Both the CIA and Sandinistas disclaimed responsibility though it was known that both wanted Pastora out of the way, following his rejection of peace offerings made to him by both sides.

However, taken in conjunction with intense CIA directed efforts to cut off money and arms to his group, ARDE, Pastora deemed it necessary to withdraw from the struggle; the forces of Evil were too much.

Decades of jungle fighting, political backstabbing and two Nicaraguan forces, each backed by a Super Power, had taken their toll on his morale and resources. Along with 500 of his best troops he marched off into Costa Rican exile, leaving the reactionary capitalist Contras to slug it out with the reactionary Marxist government.

SOVIET ENVOYS

But some months ago it became known in Latin American national revolutionary circles that the Soviet regime had sent special envoys to Cuba and Nicaragua, a move regarded as a 'preparation' for the impending Reagan-Gorbachev summit in Moscow.

The message was both simple and devastating: "You can no longer count on the Soviet Union for any kind of support. Glasnost and Perestroika are now firm Politburo objectives which will not be jeopardised. We recommend that you too come to an understanding with the Americans before it is too late". A short time later, Daniel Ortega, for the Sandinistas, sued for peace with the Washington imperialists.

PASTORA'S RETURN

It is inconceivable that this news was not a major factor in heralding the return of Pastora to the political fray. He had witnessed decades of capitalist reaction in Managua, only to see it replaced by a decade of Marxist reaction. For a patriot like Pastora the thought of his people suffering yet another betrayal must have been too much. He has, therefore, announced that he will be advocating a "Third Option", one that will go beyond the sterile politics of the Marxists and the Contras.

His return as Commander Zero will resound not only in the hearts of the Nicaraguan people, but also in Third Positionist circles throughout the world.

* Watch out for a deeper look at the struggle in Nicaragua in a future issue of NF News.

UKRAINIANS REJECT SOVIET NUCLEAR POLICY

IT'S NOT everyday that we see anything good come out of the Communist USSR, but one recent hushed up event shows that at least in some things there are signs of hope for the long suffering peoples and nations of the Soviet Empire.

For one group, the Ukrainian Academy of Scientists, have had the guts to criticise the Empire's policy on nuclear power. They have sent to the special Communist Party Conference their proposals which had been endorsed by a staggering 4,000 scientists.

The proposals had been published in the Literaturna Ukraina, the state's principal newspaper. The Academy claims that the reactors in the Ukraine (including Chernobyl) constitute two fifths of total Soviet nuclear capacity. They also claim that "from the point of view of geology and water supply the selection of every site was incorrect".

The document then goes on to state that the reactors pollute scarce water supplies and frighten Ukrainians who, since the accident at Chernobyl, have lost all confidence in the safety of the nuclear industry.

But most important of all, the 4,000 scientists have called for a halt to plans to build new reactors for at least ten to fifteen years while they evaluate the risks.

NFN asks when will we in the West follow suit? Knowing the vested interests of the nuclear power industry they will continue to tread the tightrope until we slip to our collective death.

CHINA CRISIS

AS THE SOVIET UNION edges nearer and nearer to a U.S. clone under Gorbachev's perestroika that other great bastion of Communism, China, is finding out that its own official reform from State Capitalism to its western variety is bringing with it many of the evils of the western brand of internationalism.

Following its latest economic lurch they are to call a halt to its policy of price reforms in the face of the highest level of inflation since the country began moving towards a market economy 10 years ago.

Inflation, something which China used to consider to be strictly a phenomenon of bosses' Capitalism has risen by a staggering 19% over the past year.

This has so worried Party officials that they have admitted that it could lead to widespread rioting. The price reforms were aimed at ending serious shortages of food that still plague the Communist system but now the starving masses find themselves faced with a situation in which they cannot afford to buy their food rations.

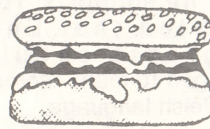

Similar pricing plans have already caused major social unrest in Eastern Europe.

Other developments in China's 'westernization' phase have seen murder, rape and robbery soar beyond belief along with drug smuggling, bribery, tax evasion and swindling.

The President of the Supreme 'Peoples' Court, Ren Jianxin has blamed much of the crime on young people under twenty five. And massive youth unemployment in Chinese cities is seen as the main cause. According to Ren some crime was to be expected during the 'initial stage of Socialism'.

The Chinese State began a

THE OTHER FACE OF GREED

FOR many people, McDonalds burger bars are just a convenient place to enjoy a quick snack.

T.V. advertisements make Mc.Donalds seem a rather fun and exciting experience, and Ronald Mc.Donald, their cheerful, smiling character, appeals to many young children. This carefully moulded image is actually miles away from the horrific truth.

Mc.Donalds own vast areas of land in many poor countries like Costa Rica for example. While millions of Costa Ricans starve, Mc.Donalds feed millions of tonnes of staple crops to cattle, which are fattened up ready to be turned into 'Big Macs' and 'Cheeseburgers'. So in actual fact, they are literally stealing from the mouths of the poverty stricken.

horrific anti-crime holocaust in 1983. About 20,000 people have been executed since then, the vast majority of them for reasons that would get someone in this country Community Service!

THE GREEN MARCH MUST TRIUMPH

GREED FOR PROFIT is wiping out wildlife in the North Sea. Up to 80% of harbour seals and many dolphins are threatened with death due to pollution. Over a third of an estimated 16,000 seals have died in recent weeks and now 16 dolphin carcasses have also been washed up on Danish and German shores. And there are no signs of it easing up.

But the politicians are doing nothing about it, as they seem to be spending all their time blaming each other for the disaster.

The West Germans blame Britain for dumping sewage into the North Sea. However, many scientists say part of the blame and responsibility lies with the West German chemical and modern agriculture industries.

They also blame the East Germans and the Czechs, as pollution is carried down German rivers into the North Sea.

While the governments of eastern and western Europe try to cloud the issue by arguing the proportion of blame attached to each our wildlife dies off.

It's high time we put the welfare of people, the environment and wildlife before profit.

Mc.Donalds are also responsible for destroying massive areas of the world's rainforests. There are 100,000 cattle-ranches in Amazonia, and it takes 800 square miles of forest to keep Mc.Donalds supplied with paper for only one year! An area the size of Wales is felled each month! Even local tribesmen, who have dwelt on the land for centuries, are being driven away by these ruthless materialists.

And if this wasn't enough, the 'food' sold at Mc. Donalds is high in animal fat, sugar and salt, and low in fibre, having a most devastating effect on our health.

Another method of exploitation directed at the innocent by these greedy inhumane money grabbers, is their uncaring attitude to their own workforce. Mc.Donald's exploit young people, paying them low wages and forcing them to work in bad conditions.

To say that the Mc.Donald's burger empire is evil would be an understatement. What better way to starve the poor, destroy the environment, ruin your health and help create cheap labour than by dropping in for a bite to eat at Mc.Donalds.

IN THIS SPECIAL INTERVIEW we are pleased to be able to talk to Bill Means of the American Indian Movement about his people's struggle for human rights and self-determination in their own land. Bill is the Principal at the Heart of the Earth Survival School.

Messages of solidarity should be sent to: 1209 4th St. SE, Minneapolis, MN 55414, U.S.A.

The American Friends of the Movement who made this interview with NF News possible can be contacted at: PO Box 10203, Arlington, VA 22210, U.S.A. Send an IMO for $2 for a copy of their Third Way Bulletin.

NF: Could you provide our readers with a little background information on the situation of the American Indians and what your beliefs are regarding self-determination?

BM: Indian people believe that we have the right to our own treaty lands which are in fact the Indian nations. If the U.S. government were to honour the treaties there would be 371 distinct Indian nations within the boundaries of what is now known as the United States. So Indian people do believe that treaty rights are in fact national right. The American Indian Movement takes a more well known nationalistic political approach in defining territories in certain treaties, like the 1868 Fort Laramie Treaty which was made between the Sioux nation and the U.S.,... and in various types of solidarity marches, protest marches and environmental type rallies...

You have the Navajo nation which is proclaiming their independence in a political sense, addressing themselves as "The Navajo Nation" to the U.S. government, whereas most other Indian nations call themselves tribes. Of course we feel this is a misnomer because we feel that the Indian people do meet all the criteria of nationhood as outlined in international law which is "a defined territory, a language, a culture, a system of government and an ability to carry out relations with other countries". In addition to this criteria we are very much in line with the idea that we have a right to independence and nationhood, whether it be considered on the treaty rights level or presently under tribal government level. We still have autonomy and have the right to nationhood by law and by history.

NF: You say that you desire independence. Would this be total independence from the U.S. State or would you be prepared to work within the State structure in some way?

BM: Basically the American Indian Movement doesn't have a national position because we believe that the Indian nations must decide their own future... However, in the interests of self-determination we do support independence. The treaties which were signed with the United States do indicate that the Indian people have sovereignty. However, this has been diminished by the colonial tactics of the U.S. government. So yes, we do believe that Indian nations are independent, are distinct both by history and by law, and we continue to advocate for that right. But we believe it is up to the individual Indian nations to determine to what extent that independence should take. Should it be a trustee status? Should it be a Statehood status? Should it be an independent national status? I believe that each Indian nation should decide for themselves.

NF: What activities is AIM involved in at the moment?

BM: We have many activities surrounding the issues of land and treaty rights, trying to reform what is called the "American Indian Religious Freedom Act", to protect the sacred rights, access and use of certain areas of National Parks and U.S. Forests. Also we are involved in education developing programmes like the one where I work at, Heart of the Earth Survival School, which are culturally based fully accredited educational programmes...

We're involved in job training programmes, training our people and taking them off welfare, putting them on their own independent tracts so that they can care for their families. We're also involved in legal defence of certain issues such as desecration of land rights, protecting our natural resources, and more importantly we're involved in the international community to document human rights violations of the indigenous people throughout the hemisphere.

We're also involved in creating an international solidarity with our Indian brothers throughout the western hemisphere because we believe that one of our priorities is to link the 80 million peoples from the tip of South America to the tip of North America so that we become a strong voice in the future of our people.

So our issues concern everything from social services to land struggle to the struggle for our treaty rights.

NF: What do you see as posing the biggest threat to your aims at present?

BM: The major threat to Indian people at this time is

THE NATIONAL FRONT'S Third Position ideology recognizes the inalienable right of all peoples to self-determination. In this special feature, NF News looks at the struggle of different peoples around the world to claim that right.

The circumstances of the Palestinians and the Afrikaners are very different, but their needs - a land of their own where they can work for themselves and live in tune with their own culture, under their own rule - are the same.

The political 'right' shows its hypocrisy and short-sightedness by supporting the right of White South Africans to such independence, but ignoring the identical rights of Blacks in that country, or of oppressed peoples such as the Palestinians. While the liberals and the Marxist 'left' show their hypocrisy and anti-European bigotry by supporting the rights of the Palestinians and South African Blacks, but demanding that the Afrikaners submit to the destruction of their unique nationhood in a Black-ruled multi-racial state.

Both the 'left wing' and the 'right wing' positions are inconsistent and illogical. Both lead to oppression, hatred and bloodshed. Only the Third Position recognition of the rights of all peoples to preserve their cultural and racial identities through self-rule can bring lasting peace where different peoples have been brought into contact and conflict.

GREEN IDEOLOGY

The Third Position is also noted for being a 'Green' ideology, which calls for a widespread return to the land as an antidote to modern materialism and the soulless urbanism of Capitalism and Communism. It is very interesting to see how these completely different peoples, struggling for survival, are being drawn instinctively back to the land.

This provides yet another illustration of how the Third Position is valid for all peoples, though each must develop it according to their own history and unique characteristics. It also suggests that a "Back to the Land" drive is essential to any successful national revolution. If so, much more emphasis on this aspect of our struggle is clearly needed in Britain, and NF News will be returning to this theme in due course.

A GLIMMER OF HOPE FOR SOUTH AFRICA

"The Afrikaner can only survive in a separate Afrikaner state inhabited only by Afrikaners and assimilable people."

This is the conclusion reached by Dr. Carel Boshoff, one of the most important of nationalist Boer thinkers in South Africa.

Dr. Boshoff is the son-in-law of the founder of "grand apartheid", Dr. Hendrik Verwoed, and was chairman of the powerful Broederbond until it was taken over by supporters of the Botha regime.

Boshoff has just published an important position paper pressing for an all-White Afrikaner state, until now an idea supported only by fringe movements. He maintains that it is now too late to follow Verwoed's idea of separate development, with a central White-run state surrounded by Black-run satellite nations.

SMALLER HOMELAND

Instead he advocates a much smaller homogeneous Afrikaner homeland, established by an act of secession from the present South African State.

This conclusion is an implicit rejection of Treunicht's Conservative Party, which claims to follow Verwoed's ideas. Dr. Boshoff also attacks the ruling National Party as traitors. He also rejects the State advocated by Eugene Terre Blanche's neo-Nazi Afrikaner Resistance Movement.

The AWB wants to re-create a Boer Republic in which a voteless Black majority remain to do the dirty jobs as rightless gastarbeider. But Boshoff correctly points out that such a repressive regime would be doomed in the long run, as is the present South African State.

IDENTITY

So Dr. Boshoff concludes that a separate, smaller Afrikaner state is the only way for his people to preserve their cultural and racial identity. With his past record as a Boer leader, and his present position as the head of the Afrikaner Volkswag - a cultural/political society - he is well placed to build support for such an idea.

Meanwhile, another leading Boer thinker, Professor Alkmaar Swart, has announced that land has been purchased to act as the nucleus of the new state.

LABOUR OF LOVE

He is asking for young Afrikaner volunteers to work the land, warning that there will be no Blacks to do the work for them. It must be a labour of love, rewarded only by food and shelter and a sense of contributing to the salvation of the Afrikaner.

This principled and idealistic position shows a growing maturity among White South Africans, as more and more recognize that there is a Third Way between the doomed and morally indefensible attempt to maintain minority rule over the Black population, and the destruction of their nation after surrender to Black majority rule.

It is an idea which the National Front proposed as a solution to the South African problem some six years ago. As it now spreads among Whites in southern Africa, we are able at last to call for support in Britain and Europe for an initiative in South Africa which would guarantee the future of the Afrikaner nation - including the people of English-speaking descent prepared to be assimilated into the new state - without denying the same right of national freedom to the Black nations which share that beautiful but troubled land.

BACK TO THE LAND

FACED WITH the brutal Israeli repression of their 'sticks and stones rebellion', the Palestinians on the Zionist occupied West Bank are literally digging in for a long-term struggle before their eventual victory.

Before the uprising against the occupying Zionist army and the theft of ever more land by Jewish settlers, Palestinian agricultural experts and idealistic intellectuals had called in vain for a move back towards self-sufficient farming. But they had little impact as so many young men were working as cheap labour in Israeli factories.

But now the uprising has changed all this. Villages which have declared themselves "liberated zones" have been besieged for months by the Israeli army. Faced with the threat of being starved into surrender, everyone from old men and shopkeepers to university professors have dug up abandoned fields and gardens to grow for themselves the food they had got by buying from the Israelis.

BOYCOTT

Hand in hand with this has gone a deliberate boycott of luxury products - chocolate, ice cream, fashion clothes etc - which are generally Israeli. This is denying Israeli business the chance to exploit their captive market of £1.7 million Palestinians in the area. It also opens up the longer term possibility of developing small scale manufacturing concerns owned and run by Palestinians, meeting the needs of their own communities.

The Zionists have retaliated by creating bureaucratic obstacles and obstructing exports, while their extremist 'religious' settlers have taken to burning the crops in Palestinian fields.

RETURN TO THE LAND

The Palestinians in turn have backed up their "Return to the Land" movement with a wide range of local popular committees. These distribute food and propaganda, organize local traffic policing and set up night watch groups to warn of the brutal army raids where young men are dragged from their beds, have their hands crushed with hammers, and are beaten unconscious.

So far, there doesn't appear to be an organizational structure capable of co-ordinating a long-term economic strategy based on the self-sufficiency movement. But the uprising has boosted political awareness and shown ordinary people that everyone can do something in the fight for national freedom.

This makes victory for the Palestinians inevitable. The only question is how long will it take?

the continued policy by the U.S. government. A policy which includes the theft of Indian land by legislation through the U.S. Congress and the state governments. But the primary threat today is the constant policy of the U.S. government to abrogate treaty rights and the constant attempt by the U.S. Congress to take over more Indian land and open it to multi-national corporations for mineral resource exploitation.

NF: Do you feel that your people are losing their cultural identity?

BM: I think that is one positive point that we have now, in that through the self-determination of the Indian people their cultural awareness is actually on the rise. Our young people are exposed to it at an earlier age than in the past generations. They are learning about the ceremonies, the language, etc. Of course the dominant society refuses to recognize this in public schools so more and more Indian schools are taking it upon themselves to document the history, to teach the languages, to become involved in the renaissance of Indian culture and religion.

NF: We describe ourselves as a Third Positionist organization, meaning that we reject both Capitalism and Communism which have led to the problems which we now face and also to your own. We promote the idea of an economic system called Distributism which requires the decentralization of both economic and political power. What type of economic/political system would you adopt?

BM: We had systems of government that were in place and working well, to represent our people, long before Karl Marx or Benjamin Franklin were born. Long before feudalism and oligarchy were brought to America. So our systems of government are primarily democratically elected. They're primarily representative and have a separation of powers. Many people don't understand that 75-80% of the U.S. Constitution comes from the great Law of Peace of the Iroquois Confederacy [established c. 1570 between five Indian nations in eastern America].

We know all about democracy and we know about representative government. However, the perversion of the Indian philosophy of government has come about either through a highly industrialized capitalistic state on the one hand, or a highly industrialized socialistic or communist state on the other.

As Indian people we feel that we have a combination of both, and we believe of course the people must own and operate certain variable assets of the society, such as natural resources. Individuals should have the right to pursue their own types of individual and community based business ventures.

So we have within the Indian culture a philosophy... of both individual ownership as well as communal ownership. But when it comes to the Mother Earth and her resources they must be put in the hands of the people and not individuals.

NF: You say that you have a 'representative' system.

We promote a system based on participation. Is this in any way similar to your own?

BM: Yes, it is. As a matter of fact ours [system] evolves from the extended family and then it evolves up until you have a highly decentralized national government. But with most of the work being done at local and regional levels rather than at a centralized national level.

Mr. Means concluded the interview saying that he appreciates the fact that many Europeans sympathize with the plight of his people. However, he emphasized that before westerners decide to aid the American Indian Movement, they should first develop a sincere knowledge of Native American culture, history, and traditions. The obvious point is that we should not pity the Indians as have the liberals, otherwise we will simply fall prey to the same biases and misconceptions which have kept them in their present status.

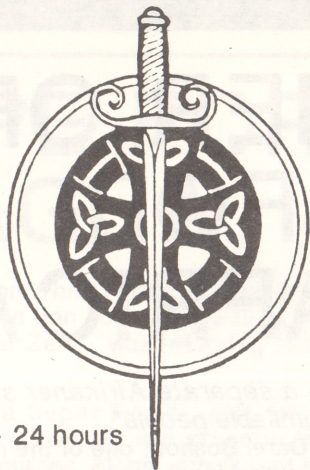

The Indian Separatist cause is one of the most dynamic of any in the ongoing global struggle for national freedom. It will not be long before AIM develops the voice in world affairs that it much deserves. As Third Positionists, committed to cultural preservation, we salute the efforts of our Indian comrades in the American continent, and hope that we can learn from their determination and sacrifice in our fight for the British family of nations.

IN DEFENCE OF THE FAMILY

No nationalist would deny that the Family - the foundation stone upon which a healthy society exists, is heavily under attack from a number of sources both openly and insidiously. Our sister magazine Nationalism Today is currently examining in a major two part essay entitled 'The Family - First and Last' the necessity of the family as an institution, how it is being destroyed in the modern age and how this deadly trend can be reversed.

But one area of attack that affects both family life and that of the individual has received scant attention in the written propaganda and education of the nationalist movement; that is the world of pornography.

This is something, unlike the slow 'Americanization' of our cultural, sporting and musical traditions, which is mainly 'home grown', at least in the books and magazines which line the shelves of many newsagents throughout the country, although a substantial amount of pornographic films do flood into Britain from overseas.

The promotion of literature such as this can only be described as morally wrong and extremely damaging, and to the minority of sexual perverts, rapists, child molesters and the like they can be very influential indeed.

The liberal view is that most sex offenders have been brought up in a nasty environment, or had a deprived childhood... but what exactly do they mean by deprived? Could it be that they have been deprived of a solid family life? One thing is for certain, none of them have ever been deprived of filthy 'reading' material. The only problem facing today's perverse characters, is whether or not they are tall enough to reach the top shelf! Many men see the sick fantasy world of pornography as an escape from the harshness and pain of modern life, as others find their escape in drugs, although the REAL world is not about disgusting pictures and filthy language. The only way to ensure a safe, decent and healthy society for our children to grow up in is to make a firm stand against such vile filth and its publishers.

We as a movement, believe that the family is the most important factor in building a folk community. Pornography destroys this ideal, and for married men can be the first step to betraying their wives, as spiritual adultery can eventually lead to the material version. Indeed it has been proved that certain television programmes which glamourise violence, have led to aggressive attacks and murder, so it is certain that pornography can lead to sexual deviancy and increased promiscuity among sections of society.

The sooner that we can stamp out this mindless filth and help to create a society based upon love, instead of lust, the better, but this aspect of our struggle is like so much else in nationalist Combat. We have no power to make or enforce laws at the present time so we must lead through example and change people's attitudes through their respect for us and our Cause, because we as individuals represent nationalist society.

HITTING BACK AT ZIONISM

NF News is delighted at the continued impact of the Campaign for Palestinian Rights. Events in occupied Palestine are among the most important in the world today, and we are glad to be able to play even a small side role in support of the Palestinian freedom fighters and against the global power of Zionism.

That power is largely the result of the Zionists' use of Money. Not just bribes, threats and corruption, but also simply 'good business sense' - persuading totally uninvolved people and companies that their financial interests coincide with the interests of the State of Israel or some other manifestation of Zionist power. And this power can only be fought in the same way.

This is why the CPR attempt to hit Israel where it hurts most in the pocket and in the public eye - is so promising and worthwhile. If travel agents can be persuaded to give tacit support to Israel by the promise of profits from a few holidays being sold, they can just as well be persuaded to withdraw that support by the prospect of the loss of profit from a few holidays not being sold.

SENSATIONAL HEADLINE

Dear NFN,

I was interested to read J.G. of West London's letter, (NFN 108) regarding the 'anti-Protestant Laws' article in NFN 105. In retrospect, I agree that the headline was rather sensationally presented, although it was and is essentially true. Bigotry works both ways and I can quote chapter and verse if necessary to show that the late Sean MacBride was every bit as much of a bigot as Rev. William McCrea.

However, as the leader writer in question, I must take issue with the comment that some of the sentiments expressed would not have been out of place in the reactionary Flag rag. The article was opposed to religious discrimination, not advocating it! The Tories proposal will bring in discriminatory quotas. Religious differences will then become more entrenched, making our task of building a new Ulster considerably more difficult.

I must also make it quite clear that many Protestants are suspicious of their Catholic workmates, especially if they come from areas generally regarded as being IRA strongholds. This fear is not entirely irrational - people have been set up for assassination by their workmates before. This of course, has worked both ways. As we said, sectarianism is a tragically inevitable by-product of the 'troubles' and one incident often stokes up strong fires of distrust and hatred. We're not saying that it's right - merely that it is natural and that it must be ended.

We believe that direct democracy will give real power over their own affairs to all our people, not just a section, and will throw the present useless bunch of professional politicians where they belong - on the scrapheap. We believe that unfairness in employment can be eliminated by giving all our people direct ownership of the means of production and distribution. We believe that an Independent Ulster state could isolate the IRA, politically, socially and economically and then defeat them militarily.

I trust that this puts J.G.'s mind at rest.

Yours for National Freedom and Social Justice.

The Ulster Leader Writer,
Belfast.

Editorial Comment

The headline in question was not selected by our Ulster journalists.

THE MONARCHY

Sir,

I was saddened by the letter from A.M. of Oldham against the Monarchy. Although I realize that this is common ground amongst nationalists it is one I have never supported as I think people fall into the trap of judging the individual rather than the institution.

Now, before I'm accused of being an imperialist Tory and all the rest of it, I may say that I am a Christian and as such I have no time whatsoever for the present royal family (who are more Masonry than Monarchy), the head of which has put her name to every piece of anti-Christian legislation that has been put in front of her, notably the abortion and homosexuality acts. What I believe in is Christian Monarchy, leading by good example and love of the race.

I have long regarded myself as a nationalist, but also a Monarchist, even though the present incumbent is unworthy of the office.

For Race, Nation and True Monarchy.

Yours Faithfully,
M.S. London, SE9.

MUSLIM SUPPORTERS

Dear Sir,

Thank you for sending a copy of National Front News (No. 105) to our office. I must say that all the Muslims I have shown it to were very surprised at the basic commonsense which was expressed in the paper, some even taking photocopies of various parts.

As your article 'Media Image or Truth?' said, Muslims have many policies in common with your position. We too are against Usury in business transactions, for such is forbidden by the Qu'ran. We are also resolutely opposed to both Communism and Zionism. Surely agreement on such major issues can allow us to examine one another's respective stances?

As for the matter of race, we have a view which is very different from that of the woolly minded liberals! Anyway, thanks again. Your paper is a good read and I look forward to seeing it in the future. Good luck with your campaign against ABTA!

Yours Faithfully,
U.B.

BRINGING UP OUR CHILDREN

Dear Sir,

One particular subject that has been neglected over the years, has been the way that National Revolutionaries plan to educate their offspring with our own noble ideas. One reason for the apparent failure to explore this area, may have a little to do with worthiness and first-hand experience. A lot of us have treated this important issue very cautiously indeed, and nobody has come forward and offered to lay down the proper guidelines concerning the matter.

In today's materialist society, bringing up children can be extremely difficult at the best of times. One important thing to remember, is that if a child is continually force-fed a diet of moral and political rhetoric, things can often result in heartbreak.

It is certainly true that young people rebel against anything society or their parents seek to teach them. Many religious couples find it a very difficult task to rear their children in the ways of the Church, and nationalists can learn from their experiences.

As Third Positionists, we would all like our young to show a love of nationhood, racial and cultural pride and to profess an understanding of Distributism and popular rule, but what if the child had different ideas, which is possible of course, as everyone is different?

The key words in such a

THE STREETS ARE PAVED WITH GOLD

Dear Comrades,

Having seen the appeal for £1500 in issue 106 of NFN, we asked for small donations for the Technology Fund from our street sales one afternoon. This raised £13.00 which is not a great deal, but if every unit did the same it would knock a chunk out of the cash still needed.

Yours,
Leeds NF.

LOST TOUCH?

Dear Sir,

Since the events of Summer 1986, when the NF adopted a more radical line, it would appear that the movement's principle and most publicized aim of 'preserving the racial and cultural integrity of the British nations' has taken a back seat in our recruitment and printed material.

Although I fully understand the need to develop other aspects of our policy, as well as reversing the media image of 'hatred' which has maligned our progress, I feel we have perhaps lost touch with our main objective and in doing so have alienated people who would otherwise have supported our struggle.

If we were gaining valuable recruits solely due to our anti-nuclear, abortion, divisection (etc) stance I would deem the effort worthwhile. But I feel this is not the case, since anybody who feels strongly about these individual and highly personal issues can, and do, join pressure groups/parties dedicated to that particular problem.

In my experience the only people who have enquired about the NF (despite our widespread campaigns on other issues) do so primarily because of our anti-immigration / racial preservation policy, which is why I myself became involved.

I am not saying drop these other issues because I know the NF can only make ground and progress with a full programme of policies and radical ideas. But let us remember how we started and not over-stress those other issues (particularly in NFN) at the expense of our true traditions. There is a danger of spreading our net too wide and as a result catching no fish.

Having recently read a copy of 'The Final Call' published by the Black Separatist Nation of Islam it struck me immediately that this was a paper written by Blacks for the Black man. I would hope that NF publications would similarly appeal to the nationalistic White man in this country.

Let's not forget that we are first and foremost a White nationalist movement.

Yours sincerely,
R.O.F., Bow, E. London.

situation are patience and tolerance. We must refrain from shoving our views down other people's throats, and seek to gently coax such disbelievers into conversion. Although youngsters should be educated with such morally outstanding ideas as our own, with time and understanding, everything will fall into place eventually.

Remember, it is the media that is keeping the masses in ignorance, but with our children receiving the information and propaganda first-hand, most of them will not fail to see that our ideology is the only true voice in a world dominated by the twin evils of Capitalism and Communism.

Educating the young is securing a future!

Yours for National Revolution,
T.S. Sussex.

These took place outside Lunn Poly in Kirkgate and Horizon Travel Centre in Briggate.

The protests are seen by literally thousands of people in the busy city centre.

CHRONICLE BREAKS ITS PROMISE

REGULAR readers may remember that back in September last year, NF News carried a front page story about how the National Front was being framed for acts of criminality by the media.

The story concentrated on front page coverage in the Oldham Chronicle given to allegations made by an Egyptian shopkeeper, Moustafa Marzouk, that our movement was responsible for burning down his off-licence. A week later the same paper carried a miniscule report in its back pages revealing that Marzouk had been charged with arson and attempted deception.

At a meeting shortly afterwards with two Oldham NF officials, Chronicle assistant editor, Jim Williams, promised that if the charges against Marzouk were proven when he came to trial, his paper would put the record straight about the false allegations.

Well, Marzouk has been found guilty, and yes, you've guessed it, the Oldham Chronicle is refusing to print the truth.

MOHAMMED MARZOUK

Judge Simon Fawcus said: "Setting fire to the shop was a deliberate course of conduct, designed to cheat the insurance company of money."

"It was an offence which was bound to be found out — there was no long-term or careful planning — and you cannot have applied your mind very carefully."

The judge said that Marzouk had not thought of the tenant of a flat next door, or people in an adjacent take-away restaurant.

Marzouk's accounts showed that he was taking more money out of the business than it could provide, although there was no evidence of riotous living.

Before the fire broke out, Marzouk was seen locking up the shop and slipping down a ginnel. Within a few seconds, smoke was coming through the roof tiles, and the alarm sounded.

ROAD SAFETY CAMPAIGN

MEMBERS of the Crowborough and North Weald NF launched a new campaign on road safety in mid-July. About 500 leaflets were given out to people shopping in the High Street, and a further 200 pinned to the windscreens of vehicles in nearby carparks.

Many people were agreeing with our sentiments, stressing the need for a project to make the A26 a lot safer in the aftermath of a string of horrific deaths.

At present, local activists are leafleting door to door on estates in the Crowborough and Jarvis Brook areas. A press statement has been sent to the local paper describing the campaign and we expect to gain some recognition. Commuters returning home from work were also given leaflets.

We have also produced a set of local stickers with such slogans as: Destroy Zionism, Support the Palestinians; Black and White Separatists Unite; Outlaw Abortion and Preserve Life; and For True Democracy, Choose Popular Rule!

FIGHT ON AFTER YOU'VE GONE

One of the greatest regrets our supporters - and especially our oldest supporters - have is that they will not be able to carry on fighting for the Cause for ever!

In 1980 the financial survival of the movement was ensured by the bequest of one of our deceased members. That member was never to know what a vital part she played in the history of our movement but that does not detract from her contribution.

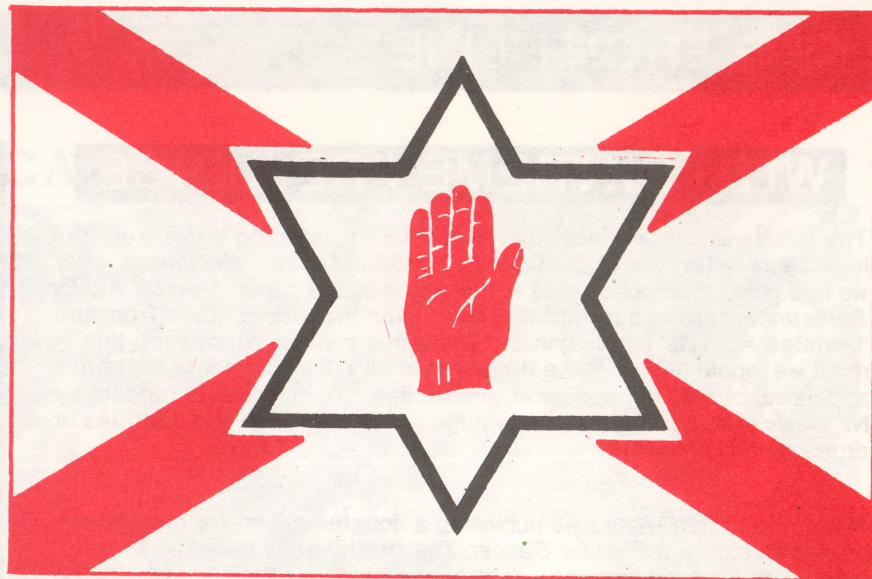

While thankfully the movements finances are on a much more secure footing, the movement is always in need of money to enable it to carry out activities necessary to development.

Make sure that you remember the National Front when you make out your Will. If you have already written your Will add a codicil for the benefit of the movement. If you are unsure about any of the legal technicalities in arranging this, please do not hesitate to contact our Legal Department.

HANG I.R.A. SCUM!

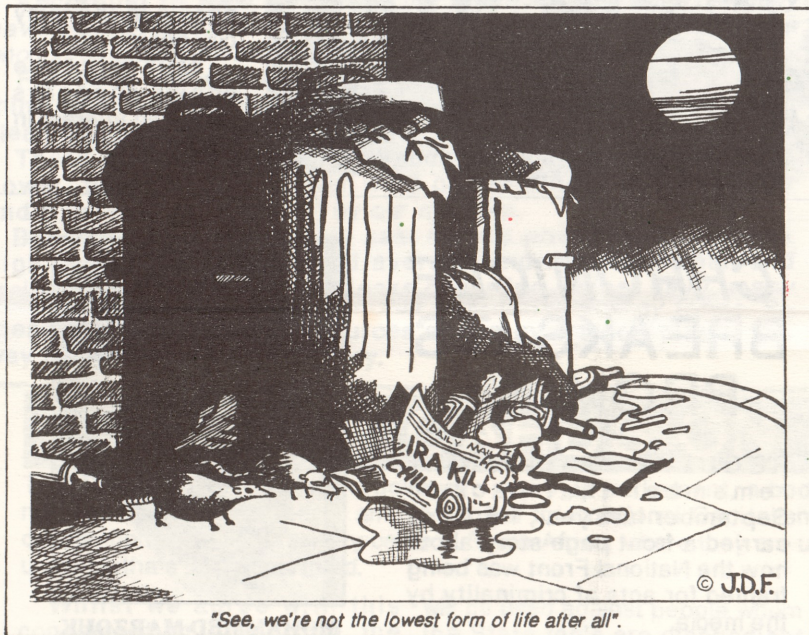

RECENT MURDEROUS atrocities by the IRA have been excused by Sinn Fein and their media apologists as 'tragic mistakes'. The Falls Road swimming pool explosions, an attack on a school bus driver, the callous boobytrap bomb which killed six soldiers and injured local fun runners in Lisburn and the horrific slaying of the Hanna family on a border road expose the Provo's as morally bankrupt scum. The IRA always claim that they take great pains to avoid civilian casualties during their operations. These claims are made to salve the consciences of their supporters. They cannot be taken seriously.

The Provo's trail of horror extends back over the past eighteen years, well beyond their recent run of so-called mistakes. A Sinn Fein poster declares "IRA call the shots" - and they don't care who they shoot! The Provo's have always been prepared to accept civilian casualties as part of their war against the Ulster nation.

They have murdered more Catholics than the loyalist paramilitaries and murdered Protestants at home, at work and at worship. Men, women and children - even babies - have fallen victim to the IRA's contempt for the lives of ordinary Ulster people. The IRA have denied them the right to justice, peace and life itself.

REACTION

The reaction of Tom King, the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland, is to call the IRA names and 'condemn' their outrages as if it had nothing to do with him. Yet he is supposed to be responsible for security. He then carries on with his task of completing the Provo's aim - handing Ulster over to Dublin on a plate through the Hillsborough

Agreement.

The Unionist leadership also habitually condemn IRA atrocities, but their condemnations are irrelevant. The Republican campaign against the Ulster nation is likely to continue indefinitely.

TWO OPTIONS

It is clear that the Union has failed Ulster. We face two options now - a 'United Ireland' dominated by either the pro-Marxist IRA, or the pro-Yank Eire establishment. This, or an Independent, free and sovereign Ulster.

Only an Independent Ulster would have the will to defeat the IRA. The oft-repeated National Front slogan, Hang IRA Scum, would then become a reality!

History, Identity, Culture

IN our last issue we took a further look at the tales of the Ulster cycle and their relevance to our modern struggle. In this instalment we look at a different aspect of Ulster life during what is often termed as the Heroic Age.

Right:
An artists
impression of one of our Ulster Celtic ancestors.

BECAUSE early literature about Iron Age life is dominated by tales of bloody battles and the deeds of warriors, it is sometimes referred to as the Heroic Age.

However, normal Celtic life revolved around a simple farming economy where even the nobles became warriors only when danger threatened. The owning of livestock was an important sign of wealth, and much cattle-stealing took place in Ulster.

The population lived in small close-knit rural communities. The members of each community were considered to belong to a tuath (usually translated as a tribe). Within the tribe each person belonged to their own family grouping, and social life was organized and controlled by elaborate sets of rules and expectations. The disapproval of the community could be a powerful force to ensure compliance with these ancient laws, which were called the brehon laws.

These tribal communities were almost self-sufficient and intensely loyal to themselves. Yet while the life-style was conservative in nature, it was also intellectually lively and artistically creative.

At the top of the hierarchy was the King. At any given time there would probably have been around 150 Kings in the island of Ireland. However, the real authority within each tribe lay with the body of ancient tradition, laws and customs. As earlier issues of NFN have noted, these traditions were jealously preserved by a professional class taught in schools run by the druids. The King was never a supreme ruler of his tribe, he merely confirmed the customary laws that were handed down to the people. The people, for their part, pledged themselves to observe treaties or alliances made by their King. He had no standing army, apart from bodyguards or noble retainers, but in times of war he would become the tribes leader.

Some of the tribes would form a confederation and give allegiance to an over-King. However, even the greatest of over Kings, or High Kings was still basically ruler of a single tribe, and exercised no direct authority outside it, other than through the alliances he had made with other tribal Kings.

In our next issue we will look at the Gaelic Conquest of Ulster.

'TWELFTH' SUCCESS FOR NF

EVERY YEAR the Republican lie-machine paints a vivid picture of the Twelfth of July celebrations as a rampage by 'Orange Monsters' through peaceful Roman Catholic districts.

This year they had the added ingredient of "NF Skinhead hordes", who were said by the media to be itching for a fight with the RUC.

The 'Twelfth' celebrations are a distinct part of Ulster's cultural identity which commemorate William's victory at the Battle of the Boyne in 1690. The 'Twelfth' today has become Europe's greatest and arguably most colourful folk festival. It is in this folk spirit that mainland volunteers annually visit their Ulster NF comrades for the festivities.

This year the Ulster National Front conducted a mass-circulation leafletting and paper sales campaign. This promoted our ideas for a free and Independent Ulster at venues in Counties Antrim, Armagh, Down and Londonderry as well as Belfast city.

Mainland volunteers and Ulster NF members and supporters also held a very successful joint seminar. Plans and ideas for the future were discussed, including next years forthcoming local government elections.

Local and visiting supporters took part in a joint picket of a Belfast travel agent's shop along with the Campaign for Palestinian Rights. A local CPR spokesman criticised the travel agent, Mr. James Hamilton of Hamilton Travel, who was quoted in the Jewish Chronicle as saying that he was looking forward to going to Israel, despite the reign of terror being conducted by the Israeli's in occupied Palestine. The police were called, but they took no action as the picket was perfectly legal and peaceful.

Mr. Hamilton later met a delegation from the picket. He told them that he had been misquoted by the Jewish Chronicle which had misled him by purporting to be a travel journal. He added that he had not yet made up his mind about going to Jerusalem.

Later that day, the United States Consulate in Belfast was also picketed. The NF/CPR picket protested at American imperialist interference in Ulster, Palestine, Central America and the Persian Gulf.

The picket condemned the State Terrorist action of the American navy which had been responsible for the deaths of almost 300 people when it shot down an unarmed Iranian civilian airliner.

The pickets were ignored by the press and other media. However, the Ulster NF received a letter from the Iranian Embassy in London thanking them for their expressions of sympathy in the wake of the American atrocity. Their Charge d'Affaires, M.M. Akhondzadeh said that it was "heart warming" that there are still those who can see the truth, despite media lies. Of course, the NF has had lots of practice at this art.

He went on to wish the Ulster NF "all the best and success in enlightening others, and in all your humanitarian endeavours".
